Will County Board Sets Up Districts For JPs

The new statute covering the election of justices of the peace in Illinois will become effective next year. Instead of being elected with so many to each township they will be chosen in a district election held in conjunction with the town elections with the number fixed according to population.

The Will county board of supervisors meeting last Friday voted to have four justice of the peace districts in the county. In all there will be seven justices and an equal number of constables in contrast with the 58 justices of the peace and the 58 constables now serving in the county.

Frankfort, New Lenox and Troy townships, with the town of Joliet will make up the second district. This district will elect three justices of the peace and three constables.

The first district, which will elect two justices and two constables, will be made up of Wheatland, DuPage, Plainfield, Lockport and Homer townships.

The third and fourth districts will each elect one justice and one constable. Dist. 3 is comprised of Channahon, Jackson, Manhattan, Wilmington, Florence, Wilton, Reed, Custer and Wesley townships. District 4 is made up of Green Garden, Monee, Crete, Peotone, Will and Washington townships.

State's Attorney Frank H. Masters Jr., told the board the districts were drawn on a population basis. He explained that the law permits one JP for each district and additional ones for every 40,000 persons or major fraction thereof. There is also an alternative provision under which 20,000 could be used as the factor.

There is another provision under which the board can exclude the population of an incorporated area having a police magistrate in setting up the districts. That is what happened in District 2. The board excluded Joliet's population of 66,359.

In establishing districts the board used the 20,000 factor. Dist. 1 has population of 43,047 so will have two JPs. Dist. 2, with Joliet's population excluded, has 51,720 according to the new census and therefore will have three justices; Dist. 3 has a population of 16,337 and Dist. 4 has 22,967 so each is entitled to one JP.

The exclusion of Joliet's population, however, does not mean that the citizens there cannot vote.

The new law does not affect police magistrates. Joliet, New Lenox, Mokena and Frankfort will continue to elect police magistrates.

Each JP, Masters said, will be elected to four-year terms. Each of the major parties will choose their candidates at district caucuses. The town election date is April 4. Prior to the special session of the legislature held this spring the law called for nomination of justices of the peace and constables at primaries. Now this is changed to the caucus system.

The county will set and pay salaries of justices; constables will continue to serve on a fee basis. Salaries for JPs can range from $600 to $12,000 a year. They will be fulltime jobs and the county will pay the expenses of their offices. JPs must reside in the district in which they are elected and cannot hold court in other districts, according to law, Masters said.

Developers Of Arbury Hills Agree To Tile Sewage Plant

The question of zoning took up most of the time of the Frankfort village board at its regular meeting Monday night. Indications were that no objections would be filed by Frankfort to the petitions of Arbury Hills developers which are to come before the county zoning board of appeals in session tonight at the Frankfort village hall.

The village board's zoning commission did have objections to two of the Arbury Hills requests--the rezoning of 10 acres at U.S. 45 and LaPorte rd., five acres for a gas station and five acres for the site of a sewage disposal plant.

The plan group pointed out this was residential property on its land use map and that reclassification would result in spot zoning, which is not considered desirable. It also objected to the location of the sewage plant there because plans showed the effluent would be dumped into a ditch in which there was not a continual stream of water. This ditch eventually empties into Hickory creek.

But Edward Feeley and Robert Black, officials of the Arbury Hills development appearing at the village board meeting Monday night agreed to drop the request for zoning for a gasoline station and to carry the effluent from the disposal plant to Hickory creek thru a tile line with the understanding that the village or the plan commission would not oppose them at the county zoning hearing.

They chose the site for the plant because it was the lowest point in the development and would save them the expense of building and operating a lift station, Feeley said. He added that the tile line to carry the effluent would host them $25,000.

Breidert said that while he was unable to speak for the commission he would call a special meeting to submit the developers proposal and added that he believed it would remove the only objections that had been raised.

Black said the developers were willing to put their proposal in a letter to the planning group.

In view of this new situation Mr. Breidert did not officially submit the recommendations of the planning group to the village board Monday night, which if acted upon would have put the village on record at the zoning hearing tonight as opposing rezoning for the gas station and sewage plant.

Feeley and Black appeared before the village board to outline their plans.

They said they had permits from the state commerce commission to build water and sewer facilities.

Mayor George Sangmeister said that the board felt that while the state had approved the plans the village felt it should have been consulted too. The developers agreed. Breidert said the plan group did not get the plans until some 10 days ago.

"We don't feel," the plan chairman said, "that it is up to us to go out and gather information. We believe it should be brought to us."

Village Attorney Albert H. Krusemark, who has been representing Arbury Hills developers, criticized the plan group for not acquainting him or the developers as to when the group planned to meet so the subdividers could have presented their side of the case.

This in turn brought criticism of Krusemark for serving as attorney for a group whose interests were in conflict with those of the village.

Krusemark said he had no intention of acting in a dual capacity; that he had accepted the Arbury Hills group as a client because he thought their plans coincided with all the provisions of Frankfort's subdivision ordinance and therefore there would be no conflict of interest. He added that Monday when he learned the plan group had objections to proposals within the mile and a half limit of the village he informed the subdividers he could not represent them at the zoning hearing tonight.

The village board adopted an ordinance annexing the Ray Schilling property at the north west corner of U. S. 30 and 45.

The board also reenacted an ordinance annexing the McIntosh subdivision north of U.S. 30 and west of U.S. 45. The original ordinance was passed almost a year ago but it was only recently that engineers for the company discovered they had erred in outlining the boundaries. The new boundaries have been included now.

Marion Bell and Howard Bell came before the board Monday to ascertain the steps necessary for annexation proceedings. They said residents along 95th avenue in Frankfort subdivision were thinking about annexing but wanted to know more about sewer plans and what would be required to open up a street thru to the village.

Vote On Fire District At Frankfort

Voters of that portion of Frankfort township included within the boundaries of a proposed fire district will ballot on its establishment Saturday, June 11.

There are four polling places: Ann Rutledge school for the benefit of those in Lincoln Estates; Green Garden town hall; Frankfort village hall and the Weitendorf school.

The polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

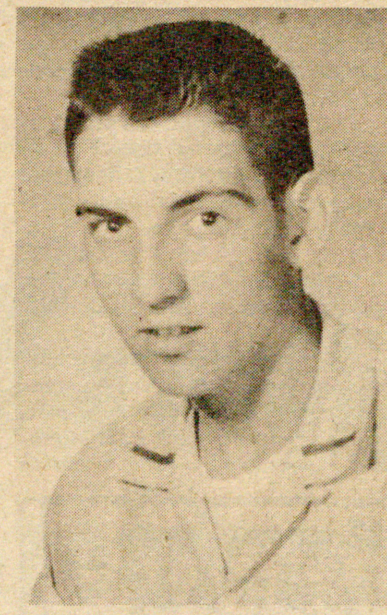

The proposed fire protection district does not infringe in any manner on the area served by the Mokena fire department.

If approved by the voters the district will be able to levy a tax to maintain and operate the Frankfort fire department. The department is not operated thru donations and subscriptions.

In Frankfort township the district would include all of Section 10; the south half of sections 13 and 14 and all of sections 19 thru 36 inclusive.

In Green Garden township: Sections one to 10 inclusive; sections 15 to 20 inclusive; sections 28 and 29 and the north half and southeast quarter of section 30.

Members of the department have canvassed every section of the proposed district, asking residents to vote in favor of it. There will be no rent for the polling places and the judges and clerks of election are donating their services, it was explained.

TO ATTEND BOYS STATE - Alvin David Waldvogel, 16 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Waldvogel, Frankfort, is being sponsored by the Bobzin-Swinford Post to attend Boys State at Springfield, from June 19 thru 25th. Allen is a junior at Lincoln-Way high school.

Open Recreation Program

The summer recreation program for New Lenox children between the ages of 7 and 12 is scheduled to get underway June 20 for the third successive year. Ronald Carlson, wrestling coach at Lincoln-Way high school, who has been in charge of the program since its inception, will be the director.

The Lions Den on South Cedar road will again serve as headquarters for the program. Carlson was authorized to employ an assistant and he will choose one with experience in arts and handicraft. Many of the youngsters are interested in such classes, especially on rainy days, Carlson pointed out.

Various games and hikes and other diversions will be offered during the six weeks the program will be conducted. The morning hours will be utilized.

The program is open to all youngsters in New Lenox within the 7-to-14 age bracket.

Wolf, (?) Car Collide Near Wolf Road

Collision of a car and what some believe to be a timber wolf on Monday morning resulted in the death of the animal and some $300 damages to the automobile. Condition of the car was such that it had to be towed to a garage.

The accident occurred about 7:15 a.m. on McCarthy road, approximately two miles east of Wolf road. Driver of the car, Paul Charles, of Mokena, was on his way to work. He reported later that suddenly a large creature broke from the brush at the side of the road and bounded out in the highway, directly in front of him.

Charles slammed on the brakes creature about nine feet along the animal. The impact knocked the creature about nine feet along the shoulder of the road. The front bumper of the car was pushed back several inches, Charles said, and the grill and radiator stove in and the fan jammed back into the engine.

He described the animal as of a dirty brown or dun color, with small ears and head for the rest of its body. He added that the feet were approximately four inches across. Various persons who stopped at the wreck were unanimous in their opinion that the animal was a timber wolf.

Then Charles called the Cook county forest preserve to get an expert opinion but the experts apparently were out and other agencies contacted just shrugged it off, the Charles said.

REVOKE 2 LICENSES

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter announces the revocation of drivers' licenses of Joseph C. White, Mokena and Sam Castro, 10234 Hawthorn drive, Orland Park for allegedly driving while intoxicated and the suspension of the license of John E. Delaney, Manhattan, for three alleged violations.

Marley School Dist. Votes On Tax Increase Saturday

Voters of the Marley school district, No. 125, will go to the polls this Saturday, June 11, to ballot on a proposed increase in the educational fund tax rate from the present figure, $1.03 to $1.24.

The district is building a new two-room school that will be ready for use by September and the directors are in the position of not having sufficient tax money coming in to operate the building unless the tax rate is increased, it was explained.

The rate was increased from 80 cents to $1.03 April 9. According to law such increases must be approved in steps, which is the reason for special elections set for Saturday, the board explained.

With the new school the board will have to employ two teachers for the coming year as well as purchase supplies and necessary equipment and furnishings.

The anticipated enrollment next September is listed at 35, although it is possible the number will be greater, a board spokesman said.

By 1961 it is expected the number will be increased to 50 or more.

There are many new homes planned for the area.

In Saturday's election the old Marley school building will serve as the polling place and will be open from 12 noon to 7 p.m.

The new building is reported progressing ahead of schedule and should be completed by August. Baumgartner & Co., of Frankfort, is the contractor building the new school. Levon Seron, Joliet, is the architect. The building is costing approximately $30,000 according to the board.

Area Towns And Villages Show Substantial Growth

Like the rest of Will county, the towns and villages of this area showed substantial population gains in the past decade, according to unofficial figures released by the district census bureau of the U. S. Department of Commerce. Final official figures will be released thru the Census Bureau at Washington.

Frankfort township for instance had a gain of 2,458 persons according to a comparison of the 1950 and 1960 census figures. In 1950 the population was 3,311; the 1960 total is given as 5,769.

In New Lenox township the increase was 2,845 as the 1950 total was 3,356 and the 1960 figure is 6,201.

The gain for Manhattan township was 514 as the 1960 total is 1,812 in comparison to 1,298 for 1950. Homer had a population of 1,459 in 1950; the present is 4,076 a gain of 2,617.

Most of these gains are the result of home building in subdivisions. In Green Garden where little such development has taken place the gain in the decade was but 37. In 1950 Green Garden had a population of 642; the 1960 figure is 679.

The gain for the village of Frankfort was 443. In 1950 the population there was 685; now it is 1,128.

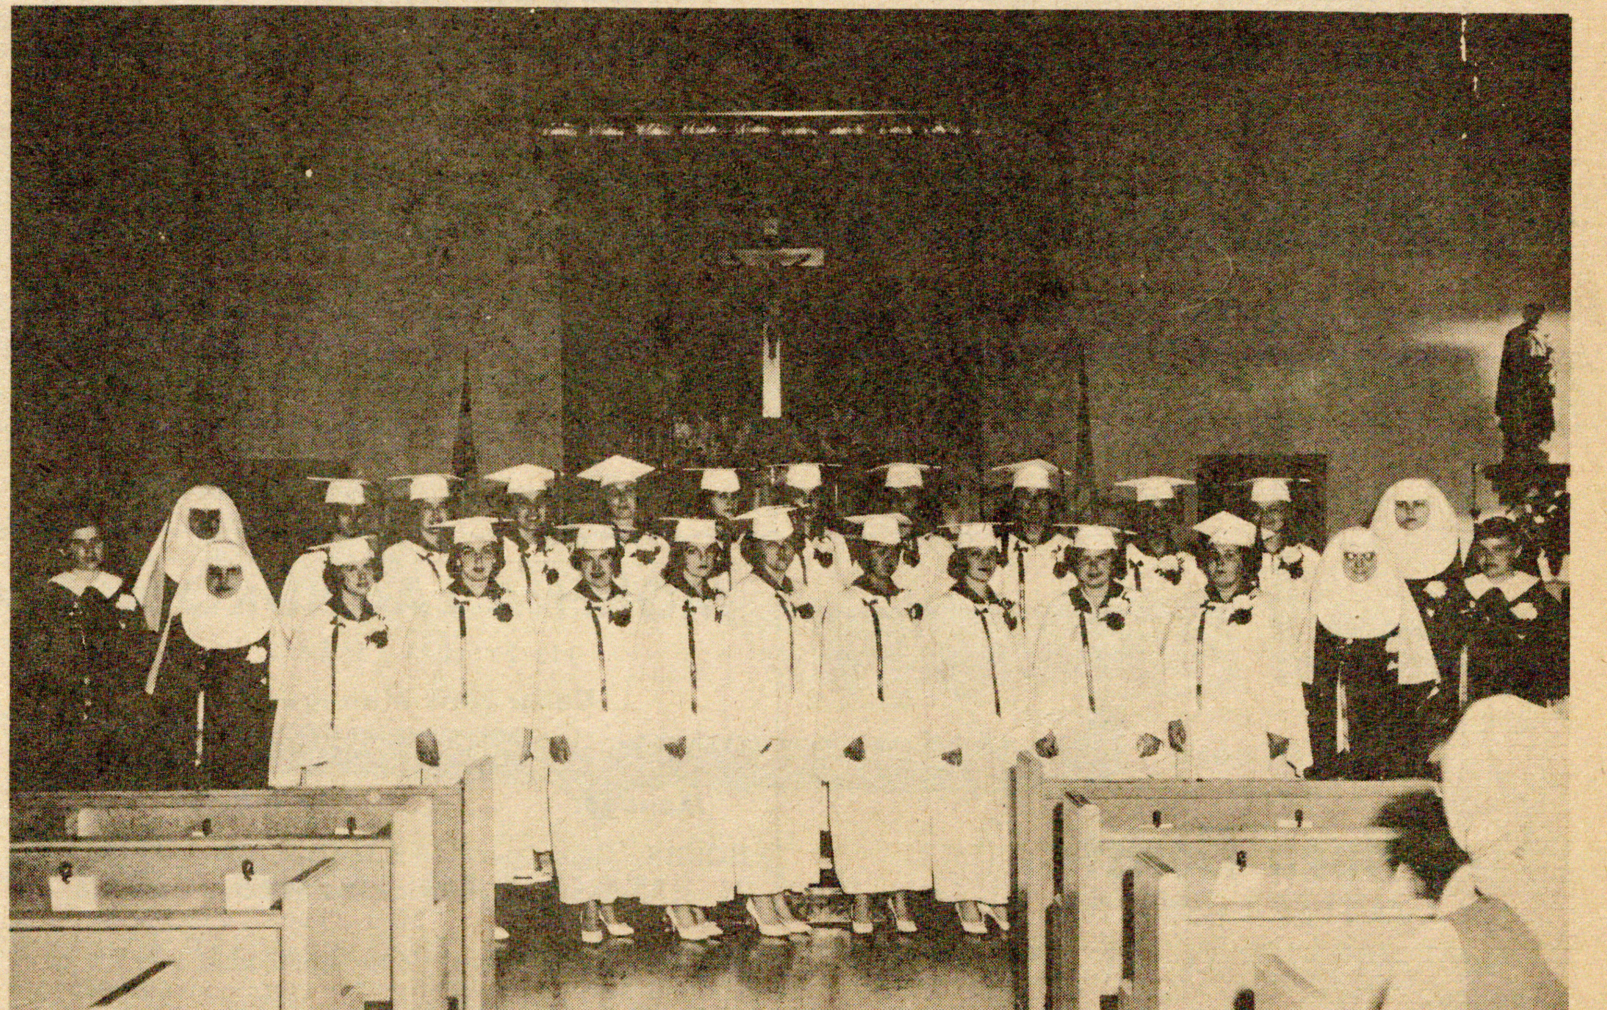

Mokena had a population of 903 in 1950 while in 1960 it had risen to 1,328, a gain of 425.

Manhattan's population was 728 ten years ago as compared to 1,107 now, an increase of 379.

The largest increase was the village of New Lenox, 497. The figure there for 1960 is 1,732 as compared to 1,235 ten years ago.

Total population for Will county as given in the 1950 census is 190,432; in 1960 it was 134,336, a gain of 56,096.

Of the total county population 113,610 is listed in cities and villages which leaves 76,822 in unincorporated area, according to figures obtained by Meade Baltz, chairman of the Will county board of supervisors.

Mrs. Peter J. Muller, council President, said Miss Wolner will arrive Aug. 15 to begin work here. She worked for Girl Scouts of Metropolitan Detroit for the past 12 years, serving as a field supervisor for the big Detroit organization.
Miss Wolner replaces Veta Funderburk who resigned Oct. 1 to become Executive Director in Madison, Wis.

The new executive was educated at Carleton college, Northfield, Minn., and holds a master's degree from the University of Wisconsin. She taught school for nine years before beginning her career with the Girl Scouts.

In her work here, Mrs. Muller said, Miss Wolner will direct the work of the professional staff and maintain the services provided by the Trailways council office at 220 No. Broadway.

Earl H. Dieken, administrative assistant at Lincoln-Way community high school has accepted a one year grant from the Ford Foundation to work with the North Central Association of colleges and Secondary Schools in developing curriculum for foreign relations study.

The board of education of Lincoln-Way recently granted Mr. Dieken a one year leave of absence. These arrangements will permit him to accept the assignment from the North Central Association. The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools is the highest accrediting agency and supervises the members schools thruout the midwest.

Mr. Dieken will be involved in an elaborate study made possible by a Ford Foundation grant of $125,000 for research and study in the foreign relations curricular area. The purpose of this project is to develop materials for social studies instruction in high schools teaching students about our relations with foreign countries and people.

During the past year over 500 students in 38 member schools participated in this study. As the program has grown so rapidly and more schools participated additional help was urgently needed.

E. H. DIEKEN

The Lincoln-Way board of education expressed its willingness to cooperate in this worthwhile project in the furtherance of world understanding and to grant the request of the North Central Association to release Mr. Dieken for one year. Mr. Dieken has been at Lincoln-Way since 1954.

Joliet Firm Gets Job To Fix Streets

The Loring Construction Co. of Joliet was low bidder on the street repair program for Mokena and was awarded a contract at the meeting of the village board Tuesday night. The bid, which covers the cost of applying a seal coat of oil and tar, and torpedo sand, totaled $3,783.26. The village is to fill the holes in the street before the oil and tar is spread.

There were two other bidders, both of Joliet; Trygg Paving Co., $3,954.75 and Crown Rock Asphalt Co., $3,977.98.

The board also strengthened the health ordinance by providing for a more stringent inspection of foods and food product sold in the village. Householders will also be required to cover garbage.

The property owned by Clarence Rourke on Wolf road, was annexed. Al Kuckenbacher appeared before the board as spokesman for a group living north of the sewage treatment plant in Sunny Acres. There are 12 homes in the area and the owners want to know what they would have to do to be annexed to Mokena.

The board also announced that the period of warning is past for car owners who have not yet purchased village vehicle stickers.

Flag Day

Next Tuesday, June 14, is Flag Day. It is set aside by Presidential proclamation, as a day commemorating the adoption of a resolution by the Continental Congress, on June 14, 1777, setting up an official form for the United States flag. "Resolved," the resolution ran, "that the Flag of the United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the Union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation."

But it was not until the War Between the States was two months old that flag day was observed by any community. This first observance of the day took place on June 14, 1861 and the place was Hartford, Conn.

It was President Woodrow Wilson who established Flag day as an annual national celebration. He issued a proclamation to that effect on May 30, 1916. Since then his successors in office have all asked observance of Flag day.

But Flag day is not a national holiday (we have said so before and will repeat again -- the United States has no national holidays, not even the Fourth of July). As a matter of fact it is a legal holiday in only one state -- Pennsylvania.

President Truman approved a resolution on Aug. 3, 1949, which designated June 14 annually as Flag day. When the Continental Congress outlined the pattern for the flag in 1777 we were yet to become a nation. Since that time the number of states has grown to 50 and their combined population approaches the 200-million mark. Our national wealth and standard of living have become the envy of the rest of the world.

Where the United States flag flies one has been assured of freedom and justice. It is a tall flag indeed and throws a long shadow but if we are to keep it that way we must remember there are peoples and nations who in a thirst for power or envious of our material wealth would destroy our banner and all for which it stands.

We owe allegiance to no other government or organization other than our government; we should render no homage to any flag other than that of the United States.

America First is all very well but it is better to make it America Always.

On Second Thot

By GLENN F. LOGAN

When I heard Jeff Throttle-bottom's ready tenor promising Kathleen to take her home again I had a strong suspicion of what had happened and a few seconds later when he came, blithely thru the office door and wished me the top of the mornin' the suspicion had become a certainty.

Jeff is what is described in potting circles as a bourbon man. It is true that he will toss off a flagon of Scotch if it is free and same goes for rye or canadian but bourbon is his preference.

There are times, however, when Jeff voluntarily changes his tipple to Irish. He says change is necessary unless one is to stand still.

And there is a change when Jeff switches to Irish. When he drinks it he talks it, his idiom and what he fancies to be brogue increasing at least 10 words to the fluid ounce.

"Hillo, hillo, hillo," he called out as he came breezing in. "I wuz just after havin' a few drops uv Murphy down at Jimmy Sherwoods -- to keep out the chill in case there is one by mornin'."

"A grand lad now, that Jimmy," Jeff went on, "a grand lad indeed, and that ginerous now," and he smacked his lips appreciatively in retrospection.

"You should have been there," he resumed after mentally savoring the Ould Murphy again. "We had a foine time talkin' of this and that and this felly and that felly. A foine way indeed to be celebratin' St. Patrick's day."

"St. Patrick's day?" I remonstrated. "Aren't you a little late? I would have thought that with Memorial Day just having been here you might have been tinting on the ould camp ground."

Jeff waved aside my question with a large gesture:

"It is never too late to celebrate St. Patrick's day," he declared, "especially if you forget it at the time."

I don't mind what it was I wuz doin' on St. Patrick's day itself but I think I was helpin' some Scots who were still celebratin' Rabbe Burns birthday which comes in January.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I would like to ask you where you were on Pearl Harbor Day? I remember very well where I was and all the heartbreaks and long years of waiting for loved ones that followed.

I can think of many things to say after reading last week's editorial on the U. N. But for right now I'd like to say that if the United Nations can prevent another Pearl Harbor Day let's support it, not condemn it.

Those of us who had sweethearts and husbands in World War II now have sons who are in the prime age for war. I know all of us will support the U. N. to prevent another catastrophe.

Where else in the world can the heads of state get together, and discuss matters in an intelligent way? Or don't you believe in intelligent discussion? Perhaps you're like so many-shoot first ask questions later.

Instead of all of us so-called Americans spending so much money on home improvement, landscaping, fancy cars, fancy clothes, etc., let's give a small portion of that money to support U. N. so our sons can stay alive a little longer.

Very truly yours,
Ruth Urbano

MEMORIAL SERVICES NOT A FUN FAIR

Dear Sir:

I have just returned home, after witnessing the Memorial Service at St. Mary's cemetery. Until today, I have never been ashamed to be an American. My so-called fellow Americans, neighbors and townspeople of Mokena, made me ashamed. The disrespect, and gay holiday feelings, I saw expressed at this solemn memorial service, made me sick at heart.

The things I witnessed at the cemetery were what I should expect from creatures who had no intelligence, or from people who were mentally deficient! Laughter and talking during the prayers for the dead, Grown-ups, who should have known better, turning away as the flag was passing by. Does this sound like good American citizens? The scoutmaster, who is a leader and teacher of our children, didn't even call the Troop to attention. Is this the way our children are learning to respect the flag?

There must have been others from this town, who served in time of war, that know and understand, what this day means. With out country in peril, and one crisis after another coming, it is time we all take stock of our attitude. It is up to the parents of this Community, to instill love of country and respect for our flag, in their children. But how can this be done, when the parents, don't show by example, this love and respect for Flag and Country.

I don't wish to start any trouble. I don't intend to sound like a flag waving fanatic. I only want this town to wake up and see what's going on around them. This letter may anger some of you who read it. You'll say, "That's not me." But stop, and think for a minute. Have you taught your children the meaning of Memorial Day and the services that accompany it? Do YOU understand it yourself?

If there is to be a Memorial Day observance, and I hope it will continue. Do it right! Do away with the circus atmosphere and remember, in your hearts, the reason you are gathering. You are there to pay respect and honor to all who gave their lives, for us, in the service of our country. Sincerely,

Mrs. John E. Sellers
(Ed. Note: This letter was addressed to the people of Mokena as well as to the editor.)

Rufe Pickett Retires From Rock Island

A collector on the Rock Island Lines' commuter trains whose friends among the public are legion, retired after he made his last run, Tuesday, May 31.

His name is William Rufus Pickett, but he is known by an untold number of daily suburbanites as "Rufe".

"Rufe" Pickett in his lifetime has become a legend. These are not the words of an over-zealous railroad press agent. The modest Pickett, of course, would be the first to deny the statement. He's that kind of fellow.

For some forty years this genial native of Burlington and Mount Airy, North Carolina has greeted plant and office workers, secretaries, and executives alike with a warm welcome in the mornings and an uplifting "hello" in the evenings after the close of the working day.

As a matter of fact, "Rufe" proudly says of himself, "I can call more Yankees by their first names than General Grant."

To show their appreciation for "Rufe" and the leading public relations role he has played for the Rock Island thru the years, the people who travel with him daily arranged for a special surprise party aboard the "5:08" (pm) suburban train to Blue Island, on the 31st.

There were a number of surprises for "Rufe" including a "party" car, festively decorated, provided by the management, and a special commendation from the railroad's operating vice-president, R. E. Johnson.

Excerpts from some of Rufe's Ramblings are hereby appended: TYPICAL "RAMBLINGS" OF RUFUS PICKETT

"When I go down home on a visit, I can notice changes that have taken place during the years far better than the other oldtimers who have lived there right along. Another generation has grown up, and with so many bright lights elsewhere to attract attention, it seems nowadays that only a few old bugs care to spend an evening around a depot."

But I can remember what a thrill we all used to get out of hearing the engineer on the up-passenger give his familiar Johnnie Clark whip-poor-will call for the order board and then answer by two more short blasts when he would see the light shine clear and how we loved to help the operator out. Each night he would appoint one of us to bug the board. That was done by hitting the bottom of the pole with a sledge hammer and the jars that some of the rail splitters would give were more than sufficient to disturb the rest of the weariest insect which might be comfortably settled around the kerosene lamp of the train order signal.

If you should ask most any old timer how long the depot has been in its present location, he will tell you that it's been right there ever since the railroad was built -- and think he is telling the truth. A building moves mighty slowly when it's only knocked a couple of times each night with a sledge or maul, but when I go down home on a visit I can notice changes that have taken place during the years.

"It's hard for me to imagine him in any other position than that in which I first saw him -- looking ahead like a perfect picture with the window of the cab forming a frame for it. He was but a mere boy when he started firing, was soon promoted and was a familiar character up and down the line till he reached the age of retirement. For several evenings after that he would come down to the depot to mingle with the group in the waiting room and it was said that a scowl would show through his whiskers if anybody smiled when he spoke of 'my train.' Everybody was still talking about him and wondering what had become of him when one day a stranger walked into the trainmaster's office and asked for a job braking. He said he had never had any railroad experience, but they were short of men and after learning the road on a couple of student trips he was marked up on the extra list."

Now if any of my readers happen to be living in California I proffer my apologies for insinuating that any other part of the country has a healthful climate but when a fellow has spent his entire life and never been out of the state of North Carolina there's no other way this Rambling could have been written. And I don't blame him one bit for taking a job as brakeman. Just as he told me, "I just wasn't satisfied doing nothing and after I got a shave and hair cut and saw that nobody recognized me I decided that I might as well draw a salary as well as an engineer's pension."

"One time when I was visiting down in Surry county a passel of the home boys and I were sitting on old man Bartlett's front porch talking about the rural electrification, and so many other conveniences which have come about since my day in them parts, when his Holstein bull happened to observe that the grass was greener in the yard than it was in the pasture."

RUFUS PICKETT

He reached through a couple of strands of barbed wire and poked his way right on through. I strung up an extension cord and told old man Bartlett to watch him and next time he tried that for him to push in the switch. Well when I got back for my next summer's sojourn the home boys all dropped in to see me and they told me what a lasting impression the scheme had made on the bull. But old man Bartlett was somewhat concerned over having to cut down on his acreage of plowed ground. "You see how near them cawn rows come to the fence," he sez, "Everybody wants to know if I am aiming to run a two lane highway around the field and it's all on account of your combination of barbed wire and 'lectricity.' And I told him there was no danger of getting shocked unless the switch was pushed in and as for the rail fence, that wood was a nonconductor. And he sez to me, 'Well I see you have the same idea that every body else has this day and time. Talk convincing to a passel of fellers who agree with you and leave the rest to them. Well in this particular case I believe that is better than if you went to the barn and started talking about 'lectricity to my mules.'"

"If such an incident as this should happen on a train coming in to LaSalle St. Station, instead of writing a Rambling about it, I would merely tell the young fellow to go to the station master's office and get Bro. Neal of Miss Kikrie one or the other to announce '... Meet your party at the gate at track 16'. But we had no loud speaker system in the depot in Windy Mountain, and he was expecting to be met by a brother whom he hadn't seen since they were four years old. 'I was reared up north and he has grown up down here,' he sez to me in a Yankee jargon when we were nearing the terminal. 'Just circumstances. But a group of my neighbors were boid hunting in the hills and they gave me a description of him -- tall and skinny and shows the effect of hook worm ...'

Well, after unloading my passengers I walked into the waiting room where everybody was talking and laughing, and seeing the young fellow who was looking for his brother, I sez to him, 'Haven't you found him yet?' And he sez to me, 'No suh. Reckon he musta missed the train case he shore writ us he wuz a comin'. Course I hain't seed him since we wuz four year old but a passel of northwestern hunters told me all about him ...'

All my life I have been trying to tell the Yankees that their southern brothers are not at all like they imagine them to be, but when I introduced those identical twins it's the only time anybody ever believed me."

Donald Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Alexander of Mokena, has recently finished his 14 weeks basic training at the Lackland Air Force base, San Antonio, Tex. He has been promoted to A3/C. He returned home Thursday June 2 for ten days following which he will report back for training in Air Police and then will be sent overseas.

Miss Dilys M. Gardella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gardella of Chicago and Wallace A. Warning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Warning of Frankfort were united in marriage in St. Peter's United Church of Christ, Chicago, Saturday, April 23, with the Rev. Warren Mueller officiating.

During the candlelight service Mrs. H. Schmidt sang Through The Years and The Pledge accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Earl Lourcey.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of chantilly lace over bridal taffeta with sea pearls and wore a lace crown. She carried a bouquet of Amason lilies, stephanotis and ivy.

Patricia Huensch, matron of honor and Betty Dahl, maid of honor, wore identical streetlength gowns of white silk organza embroidered with various shades of purple with a velvet purple sash and head bands. They wore white gloves and carried a basket of purple Iris, pink carnations and Ivy.

George Huensch served the groom as best man and ushers were Ronald Benson, Melvin Kamrath and Robert Carney.

John E. Greenleaf graduate student, with a masters degree in physical education and holding an assistantship in human physiology at the University, will help administer the tests.

Bremen Home Bureau Learn Of New Fabrics At Meeting

"Selection of Today's Fabrics", was the interesting lesson given by Mrs. Claradehl Upham, Home Advisor at Bremen Home Bureau, May 26 at the home of Mrs. Richard Seidel. New fibers, new finishes, and blends all have made buying fabrics difficult until this year. On March 3, 1960, the new labelling law went into effect. New textiles for clothing and many for home furnishings must be described according to fiber content.

Hostess for the May meeting were Mrs. Nick Anast, and Mrs. Lenard Splawski.

Guest welcomed were, Sharon

Anast a Junior Leader in Helping Hands 4-H Club, and Mrs. Vincent Carrig.

A new member Mrs. Benton Moore joined the Home Bureau.

A report was given on "Play Day" held at St. Paul's church in Blue Island May 23, for South Cook County Home Bureau Units. It was well attended, six members and three guests from Bremen Unit had a day of "FUN".

Mrs. Goodrich Shantz, vice president of Cook County and member of Bremen Unit presided over the Play Day activities.

The Northern Illinois Gas company gave the group a real treat when they demonstrated "A World's Fare" of Foods". The prepared food was used as door prizes. A covered dish dinner was served at noon.

Each Unit displayed a lesson they had learned during the year. Bremen booth was setup by Mrs. Nick Anast, Mrs. Henry Benck and Mrs. Richard Seidel.

Interest was shown in the display of favorite crafts made by each Unit. Bremen Unit had a fine display of silk screen painting.

A cookout is planned for the June 23, Home Bureau meeting at the home of Mrs. Stanley Sterkowitz. Members are asked to bring their table service. Reservations should be made by June 16. Five p.m. is the time set for the lesson in "Outdoor Cooking Chapters".

New Light Bulbs Brighten Home

Spring is the season when the housewife's thoughts turn to cleaning and brightening up the home. Many housewives now add that finishing touch -- good lighting.

In the area served by Public Service Company, customers may obtain new bulbs for burned-out ones at an authorized light bulb agency of the utility. Exchangeable bulbs are identified by the utility's "Little Bill" trademark or the words "Exchange Service."

According to S. B. Westby, district superintendent for the electric company in this area, many homes fail to meet even minimum standards of lighting. He urges everyone to exchange "burn-outs" for new bulbs in the "Brighten Up For Spring" campaign being conducted now by the utility's light bulb agents. The new bulbs give a softer, more diffused light. Like

Those #%&!!! Box Elder Bugs Win Round In Court

(CNS)--Circuit Judge Daniel A. Roberts has swatted a case of box elder bugs right out of his court room.

A vexed suburbanite trying almost everything to rid his house of the invading black and red beetles turned to the courts too soon, the judge said.

State law, he said, gives first jurisdiction to the Illinois Department of Agriculture to determine whether the bugs are pests and if they should be eliminated as a nuisance.

Counsel for Charles J. Merriam, 470 Whittier, Northfield, said the ruling will be appealed to the Illinois Appellate court.

In dismissing the suit, Judge Roberts said Merriam failed to exhaust his administrative remedies by overlooking a trip to the state agricultural department.

Her attorney argued the bugs are lovable creatures fond of humans, completely harmless, and besides could have come from any of the 100 other box elder trees in the neighborhood.

Hints For Homeowners

by James Fizzell
Cook County Ass't. Farm Advisor
The presence of unusual growths on twigs and leaves often is the result of the work of gall insects and mites. Galls come in all sizes and shapes, some large, and some small, each kind being characteristic of a particular type of creature.

The habits of gall-makers are as varied as the galls they produce. In general, galls provide a home for these creatures where they may feed, develop, and reproduce; undisturbed and protected from outside enemies.

Cynipid galls on oaks are produced by small wasps which lay an egg on a developing bud. The egg hatches into a small, legless grub which causes the gall to develop. When the insect is completely developed, it deserts the gall.

The numerous colorful, wart-like galls on the upper side of maple leaves are maple bladder galls. These galls, stimulated by microscopic mites, are very common in this area. The mites overwinter under the bud scales. When growth begins in spring, the mites move to the new leaves to produce new galls.

The damage caused by galls is difficult to estimate. Damage is usually localized, and with few exceptions, is not considered serious enough to permanently damage a tree. Occasionally, maple bladder galls develop in such numbers that the leaves become distorted and are unsightly.

The control of galls is a matter of prevention rather than cure. Galls are seldom noticed until the small animal inside is well protected from any spray materials that might be used. The control measures have been worked out for only a few of the many kinds of galls. Maple bladder galls can be prevented by spraying the trees with Malathion just before they can form galls. Likewise, elm cockscomb and hockberry leaf galls can be prevented by spraying with Lindane before the leaves expand.

New systemic insecticides now under trial offer promise of complete control of gall producing creatures.

The yellow color of pure gold can be changed. Copper gives it a red shade; silver a green shade; and there are other minerals which can whiten this precious metal.

They walk at a rate of six or seven miles an hour and if one wants to talk to them, except when they are in a rest period or have finished their stint for the day, he must keep up with them. The U. S. Department of Agriculture today announced a marketing quota penalty rate of $1.08 per bushel on "excess" wheat of the 1960 crop. As directed by law, the rate of the marketing quota penalty is 45 percent of the parity price per bushel of wheat as of May 1 of the calendar year in which the crop is harvested. The current parity price for wheat is $2.39 per bushel. Growers approved marketing quotas for the 1960 wheat crop on July 23, 1959. PIPELINERS OF ENERGY

Texas Eastern is Adding to the Energy Supply

In addition to transporting energy in the form of natural gas and petroleum products, Texas Eastern also produces energy from its oil and gas wells. Through its Oil Division, Texas Eastern is carrying forward extensive oil and gas exploration and production programs.

The crude oil produced by Texas Eastern is pipelined to refineries to be converted into scores of different products, including fuels to power airplanes, automobiles, trucks, farm and construction equipment, and to fire boilers and furnaces.

The natural gas produced by Texas Eastern is either transported through pipelines to provide energy for consumers, or injected back into the ground to recover more energy-producing liquid hydrocarbons.

Texas Eastern thus serves the nation in two capacities: as a producer and as a pipeliner of energy.

Markham Man Gets Hot On Joliet Oval

Two-time champion Tony Lenti figures 1960 will be his year, after a six year dry spell, and will be out to prove it Saturday night in the midjet auto races at Joliet Memorial Stadium.

Lenti, 32 year old foundation engineer from Markham, won United Auto Racing Association titles in 1953 and 1954, but has run second best since then. The veteran of 13 years of auto racing started this season with a bang, capturing two of the first three feature events -- both at 50 laps.

However, eight previous seasons of racing at the Joliet quarter-mile oval offer proof that no driver can walk away with the title. Lenti expects some of his sternest competition this weekend from such standouts as Bernie Wilhelm, Joliet veteran who has been close but not in the winner's circle yet this year; Newt White of Lockport, U.A.R.A. rookie of the year in 1957; Bill Beam of Rockdale, the only other feature winner thus far in a season spotted with rainouts; and John Meyers, Chicago, another driver who has been treating.

Among the others trying for their first feature triumphs will be two Hoosier speedsters, Jigger Sirols of Shelby, Ind., and Bob Harkey of Gary; Willy Wilson of Elmhurst; Mel Kenyon, Davenport, Ia.; and Bob Hauck, Joliet.

Time trials Saturday will start at 7:30 p.m. and the first race at 8:30 p.m. There will be four heat races, a handicap, 15 lap semi-feature and 25 lap feature.

Browsing Through The Cold Stove League

BY DEAN DALLAS

Semmler Press Sports Editor - Word from Purdue student publication lists Tinley Park's Dennis Tatum as one of the young men to watch in the backfield in the next couple of years.

Dennis was the crack fullback that made Bremen high school forget all the previous greats that were in the record books with a fresh new record book.

Dennis is a sophomore this fall at the Lafayette school. Watch for that name in the big team, TATTUM.

Tony Bettenhausen was fourth in the Milwaukee 100. Roger Ward was the winner of this second race on the "Big Car" circuit. This win will put Roger back near the first place spot among the leaders in the season's competition. Roger is the defending National Big Car Champ. Tony finished second last year, but is ranked lower than second at the present time.

Look for Bettenhausen to climb the ladder toward the top. He was second at the Trenton, New Jersey 100 and will be battling all the way.

There is no thought of retiring this next year in the Bettenhausen household. He plans to be back at the Speedway in Indy for next year and seek to win the crown. That crown might have been closer than we think. Tony had driven a smart race up to the point of car - fire.

Possibly the car will stand up next year.

Little League competition is about to get underway. It is the plea of this quarter that the parents will allow the little fellows to play the game.

We hope that mothers and fathers will recognize that this competition is in fun and does not prove much a superiority of his or her boy over the neighbors.

We may insist on staying ahead of the Joneses in cars, houses, appliances, but please let your children grow up in a more natural set-up. In our zealous way-American way of attacking what we feel to be a problem, let's not get carried away.

Don't beat the boy down for striking out with the bases loaded. Don't yell at him and make fun of him for missing that fly ball. Don't make him think that he did the correct thing by making an error. Don't forget to let him know--after a bad play--that he is your son and not some athlete on exhibition for our town.

Forget the press clippings, bonuses, and other "tripe" that has become so much a part of our thinking. Please help to raise a son...one with character and desire to win...learning how to lose... learning how to grow up in spite of adult efforts to show him the stupid way.

In short...let the kids alone. Now that we have told you how to raise your children...let's get out. Just keep your head in the moment of disillusionment at the aspirations that you have for your child. Keep calm when they are "striking out" the window.

Dad...mother...you will make a young man.

New Lenox Adopts Bond Ordinance

The New Lenox village board this week adopted an ordinance authorizing the issuance of bonds to defray the cost of its proposed sewer system. The revenue bonds total $350,000; the general obligation bonds amount to $185,000. The village also has been promised a grant of $75,000 from the federal government to be applied to the cost of the sewage disposal plant. The grant is made under a law adopted to clear streams of pollution.

Now that the ordinance has been adopted it is expected that the contractors will begin moving in to take care of the preliminary details.

The board also adopted two annexation ordinances. One measure adds the property of St. Jude parish to the village. This property is occupied by the parish church and the school. The ordinance takes in the property along the north side of John street in Magun's New Lenox Manor. This area is located at the northwest edge of the village.

Directors Meeting

NI-Gas Co. Elects Three New Veeps

Three new vice-presidents of Northern Illinois Gas Company were elected Wednesday (June 1) by the utility's board of directors.

Marvin Chandler, NI-Gas president, announced that Mathew J. Markle (Wheaton), William E. Preston (Geneva), and C. Joseph Gauthier (Homewood) had been elected to newly-created vice-presidential posts in a move which realigns the utility's executive responsibilities.

Chandler pointed out that NI-Gas, which now serves about 690,000 customers, has connected nearly 200,000 during the past five years.

A 36-year utility veteran, Markle has been NI-Gas manager of operation the past two years. He has served in numerous supervisory and managerial capacities in the gas utility business during his career. As vice-president, Markle will head NI-Gas' engineering, construction, supply and storage departments.

Preston, who began his utility career in 1934, has been director of planning for the gas company the past two years. Vice-President Preston's area will include the personnel, long-range planning and research.

Assistant manager of operation for two years, Gauthier previously had served as district manager in the south suburban area for NI-Gas. Starting his gas utility career in 1945, he has been identified with numerous operating and engineering roles. Vice-President Gauthier will direct NI-Gas' secretary and treasurer functions as well as purchasing, stores, real estate, local taxes, claims and insurance work.

Former N. L. Resident

Observes 94th Birthday

A former resident of New Lenox, Mrs. Clara Beadle, celebrated her 94th birthday, May 17 at Fruita Colo., where she lives with her daughter Ethel.

Mrs. Beadle was born in Toledo, Ohio, in 1866 and grew up when our country was recovering from the Civil War, in which her father fought on the Union side. After the war, the family moved to Southern Illinois, in an Indian territory where the Indians were all friendly to them.

Graduating from Normal university she taught school and also gave private lessons to retarded children who could not attend school and she states she is proud of the lives some of these children have made for themselves.

She and her husband Charles, who died about 31 years ago lived in the Episcopal church parsonage in New Lenox around 1906 and for many years thereafter. Two sons and four daughters were born of the marriage; Lawrence, who is deceased, Chester of Missouri, Mrs. Wilbert (Mary) Chapman, Wilmette, Mrs. Fae Weeks, Brownville, Texas, Mrs. Frank (Ethel) Miller, Fruita, Colo., and Mrs. Bernice Callais, San Fernando, Calif.

Mrs. Lawrence (Edna) Beadle is a patient in the Oak Bluff nursing home in Lockport and her son Lawrence and family live in Marley. Her daughter Mrs. W. H. Wilson lives in Joliet.

We and the many friends of Mrs. Beadle wish her health and happiness in the years to come.

Adopts Sign Ordinance

An ordinance covering the kind and placement of outdoor signs has been adopted by the Mokena village board.

Outdoor ground signs are limited in area to 80 square feet and may be erected only on the premises of the business which they advertise.

Size and placement of roof signs will be determined by the safety factors involved and an annual inspection, for which a fee will be charged, is mandatory.

There is also a permit fee for ground signs but annual inspection of such is not required.

Frankfort Board Gives Warnings

The Frankfort village board has issued two warnings:

(1) Don't burn garbage. The village pays to have garbage picked up and hauled away. Garbage burners, it was said, would be prosecuted as operating a nuisance.

(2) Don't become delinquent in water bills or there will be no water, officials state. Water bills must be paid within 45 days after the date the bill bears.

County School Trustees Enlarge Summit Hill Dist.

Plans for an eight-room school to serve Summit Hill district, now augmented by the annexation of Arbury Hills, have been approved by Supt. Verne E. Crackel, head of Will county schools.

According to Supt. Crackel it is his understanding that the school will be built by the developers of Arbury Hills, a subdivision along U. S. 45 east of Mokena.

At a recent meeting of the Will county board of school trustees all of Arbury Hills was annexed to Summit Hill district, No. 161. But for this action some of the subdivision would have been in Frankfort district, No. 157-C and a portion in Summit Hill.

The trustees were told that the developers expect to have the new school ready by September.

The present Summit Hill school is a one-room building and this year had an enrollment of 39. What the figure will be next fall, it was pointed out, will depend upon the number of homes sold in Arbury Hills. Supt. Crackel said he has been informed that some 60 homes had been sold up to last week.

The piece that was in Dist. 157-C is comprised of 160-acres, all on the east side of U.S. 45. The developers say they own about 200 acres of land, some of it west of Rt. 45.

According to county records the subdividers have taken out 146 permits for homes to be built on a 40-acre tract. The proposed new school is to be built immediately south of the 40 acres now under development, according to Attorney Albert H. Krusemark, who appeared at the school hearing in behalf of the subdividers.

The presidents of both Frankfort (Wilbur Hossbach) and Summit Hill (Ray Donner) school boards were quoted as saying they were in favor of the detachment and annexation.

Zoning Hearing Is On Tonight At Frankfort

The Will county zoning board of appeals is to have hearings on four petitions tonight in the Frankfort village hall. The meeting is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

The petitions involve requests for zoning changes in property included in Arbury Hills, a home development now in the process of being built east of Mokena along U.S. 45.

One petition covers residential use for 146 lots on the east side of U. S. 45, about a mile and a half north of Frankfort.

One petition asks for a B1-C classification for a portion of Section 16 to permit a gasoline station there.

Another also asks for classification for a portion of this same section for use as a sewage disposal plant site.

The other petition asks for rezoning to permit the building of a shopping center on the northwest corner of U.S. 45 and County Road No. 2.

Mokena Board Considers New Zoning Measure

An annexation ordinance, similar to that adopted at Frankfort, is under consideration by the village board of Mokena.

In order to adopt a new zoning ordinance, it was explained to the board by its attorney, Raymond Hoolehan, the first step will be to appoint a zoning board.

This board will draft an ordinance and after the required public hearings recommend its passage to the village trustees. After adoption of the ordinance by the village the work of the zoning board is completed and it is dissolved.

The village board can then select a zoning board of appeals, it was said. The appeals group can be made up of citizens not in anyway connected with the government of the village or the village board members can serve as such, Hoolehan said.

In the meantime Mokena will operate under its old zoning measure with the board members acting as the board of appeals.

Dairymen Initiate New Study On "Fats In Diet"

A new nutrition research project on the "fats in the diet" problem gets underway June 15 in the laboratories of the University of Illinois, it was announced today by Milton Geuther of Mokena, manager of the American Dairy Association of Illinois.

Directed by Dr. Fred A. Kummerow, professor of food chemistry, the new study seeks to determine the effects of milk fat and vegetable oil on the composition of fatty tissues in the body. This type of study has been made possible by new methods and new laboratory equipment that have recently become available for such analysis.

Butterfat and corn oil will be the principal fats fed in the controlled diets of experimental rats and chickens. Blood samples will also be analyzed from subjects on corn oil and normal diets.

"Previous research has shown that body fat composition may be changed when large amounts of unsaturated fats, such as are found in vegetable oils, are included in the diet," says Dr. D. H. Jacobsen, Chicago nutrition research director for the American Dairy Association.
